PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS READY TO BE CALLED

Local Military Companies in Shape for Mexican Uprising

DEPARTMENT PREPARES

Adjutant General Stewart at Harrisburg Has Matters Well in Hand for Action

An added thrill of interest to President Wilson's action in ordering the naval fleet to Mexico is experienced in local circles from the fact that the state militia may be called into requisition in case hostilities begin. While no definite orders have been received so far as known as a result of the president's late policy for the militia to be in readiness, it is well known that the department at Harrisburg has been in readiness for some time for an emergency call that may come for the Pennsylvania militia to aid the U. S forces in case of need.

Since last fall General Thomas J. Stewart, adjutant general of the Pennsylvania militia, has instructed every company commander to be in close touch with his officers and ready to act quickly on short orders. This order has been complied with, and in case of a sudden call to arms the "Fighting Tenth" would be one of the first to respond to the colors, just at it did in the Spanish-American war, when the late Col. Hawkins telegraphed to headquarters that his regiment could be ready to move in an hour's time. This is what is interesting the members of Company A, at Monongahela. Company H at Washington and Company K at Waynesburg, the members of which have many friends in this community.

Communication with Capt. Hartland at Monongahela this morning elicited the information that nothing had been received in the way of orders. Capt. Hartland is in readiness with his company to respond to a call to the colors at any time, and the fact that the stirring scenes of 1898 may be repeated in this community adds additional interest to the Mexican situation.

PFLEGHARDT OPENING AN EVENT OF TODAY

This afternoon and evening is the occasion of the annual spring opening of the Pfleghardt furniture store on Fallowfield avenue. No millinery opening is ever awaited with more eager interest than that of the Pfleghardt store because of the attractive program that is always prepared. Victrola and piarola music will be a feature this afternoon and this evening there will be orchestral music.

The interior of the store has been beautifully aranged. The arangement is the work of an artist. Mr. Pfleghardt carries a large stock of furniture, and household fixtures in his large store and enjoys a trade that comes from all parts of the Monongahela valley.

Youth Will Be Hanged

Law Will Claim Vengeance For Murder by Taking Life of Young Man

Lugi DeLeo, a lad scarcely 17 years old, was saved from the gallows by a recommendation of the State Board of Pardons at Harrisburg Thursday that his sentence of death for a murder in Fayette county be commuted to life imprisonment, but Frank Wells, aged 19, convicted with DeLeo, must die. The cases were presented together, it being represented that the extreme penalty should not be inflicted because of their youth. District Attorney Shelby of Fayette entered a protest. Counsel for DeLeo asserted that he did not do the shooting. Wells was to have been hanged at Uniontown next Thursday.

TEAM WILL BE CALLED GOVERNORS

Charleroi Club of New League Has Significant Title

SEASON PASSES GIVEN

As a tribute to Governor J. K. Tener, whose home is in Charleroi, the Charleroi club of the Pennsylvania West Virginia league will be known as the "Governors." This title was decided upon through a popular title contest just closed. Three judges, J. D. Berryman, George W. Might and Councilman C. W. Weltner this morning at the Mail office went over suggested titles submitted by Charleroi women and selected it as the best and most appropriate. As a result of the contest two ladies, Mrs. O. Dorbritz, of Washington avenue and Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald of Donlevy who is stenographer for D. M. McCloskey, Esq., will receive season passes to the game.

The name contest lasted a little more than a week and several good titles were suggested, but none of them apparently as appropriate as the one selected. Matters considered in the selection of the title were that the governor of the state was a resident of Charleroi and also that he is the president of the National Baseball league of America.

Mrs. Dorbritz and Miss Fitzgerald sugested the same title and their letters came in all nearly the same time, so upon recommendation of the committee President Paul B. Wreath decided to honor them both with season passes as contest prizes.

GIVES LECTURE ON TEMPERANCE

Rev. C. L. McKee of Washington Says Effiency Suffers From Use of Liquor

Lecturing to a good-sized audience at the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday on the subject of "Whiskey Under the Searchlight," Rev. C. L. McKee of Washington, treated interestingly the aspects of the liquor traffic as relating to the conservation of the human body and as relating to efficiency. He illustrated his lecture with stereopticon views.

In his lecture Rev. McKee took as a good subject for use in his descriptive work that of the moderate drinker. He proved him to be a man who is usually efficient in his chosen line of endeavor, lessened his efficiency through the absorption of alcholic poison. He showed that even the most moderate drinking interferred with a man's capacity for putting forth his best efforts most intelligently.

Rev. McKee combated the fond assertion of brewery men that beer makes men stronger, and proved his contention by scientific data. He showed illustrations in support of his argument and gave results of experiments by scientists. He declared that the nation was not builded by alcholics.

RESIGNS COLLEGE POSITION

Dr. James D. Moffatt Quits Presidency of W. & J.

IS NOTED EDUCATOR

At a called meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees of Washington and Jefferson College at Washington Thursday Rev. Dr. James D Moffat tendered his resignation to take effect July 1 of this year. The resignation came as a surprise. Dr. Moffat presented his resignation in person, with a brief letter in which he stated that although he did not yet feel the effects of infirmities of age he believed it wise to lay down his work as head of the college while he was yet in good health both physically and mentally and thus make way for a younger man.

Dr. Moffat, with one exception, is the oldest college president in the United States, in point of continuous service. The one mane who has served longer is Rev. E. G. Dohan, president of Villa Nova. The presidency of Washington and Jefferson was endowed in 1901 by Josiah V. Thompson of Uniontown in memory of his father, Jasper M. Thompson for many years a trustee of the local school. The presidency here pays $7,100 a year and is one of the highest paid college presidencies in the United States. In resigning, Dr Moffat will retire on a Carnegie pension, which will net him about $4,000 a year for the rest of his life.

James D. Moffat, son of Rev. John F Moffat, was born in New Lisbon, Ohio, March 15, 1846. He graduated from Washington and Jefferson College in the class of 1869 and from the Princeton Theological Seminary in

BAD COMPANY

One of the impressive lessons of the trial and execution of the four gunmen of New York city was the final admonition of the quartette to young men in general to abjure bad company. In their crude and uncouth way, while in the shadow of death and protesting innocence of the crime for which they were about to pay the penalty, each individual realized vividly the wages of sin, and sought to sound a note of warning to their fellows. "Bad company" was responsible for their debased and gang trained careers, just as it is in every other similar case.

One of the greatest problems before the American people today is to abolish conditions which fosters the corruption of the boys and youths of our cities and large towns. It is the commercialization of vice and lawlessness that creates the bad company that boys fall into, and which trains them into criminal careers. The powers that prey have dominated the politics and social conditions of the larger municipalities to such an extent that vice and crime are protected regularly. Politically this element stands for "wide open" government, works against all reforms, hooks up with the slum element in getting votes, and is opposed to clean conditions and progress generally.

As a result the school for bad company is created and awaits every boy and youth who cannot stand the acid test. Bad company created the gunmen of New York, and it was responsible for their tragic ending.

KILLING THE GOOSE

While "trust busting" meets the approval of the public in general, there is grave danger that this merry pastime may be carried too far. No one denies that the trust that operates in "restrains of trade" or impress burdensome conditions and hardships on the public ought to be "busted," but to go after and "bust" each and every trust for the sole reason that it is a trust whether it is good or bad, is likely to work even a greater hardship on the public than the bad trusts can impose. It is virtually killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

This has been evidenced lately by numerous railroad and industrial corporations which claim they have had conditions thrust upon them both by legisiative bodies and their employes which they cannot stand. As a result they have ceased to operate on so large a scale and have laid off thousands of working people from their pay rolls. Retrenchments made in other directions also stop the wheels of industry [illegible] the workers suffering and destitution is bound to follow. A spirit of hostility is manifested against these corporations by the public and a general disposition seems to exist to force anything that will cripple them financially.

For months people to exercise their spirit regardless of the merits of each individual case is like climbing out on the limb of a tall tree and sawing off the limb between themselves and the tree. If the big industrial plants, the mines and the railroads are idle there is no labor for the workmen. The more these concerns are heckled and handicapped the leaner will be their payrolls. All that the working people and public generally can ask of the trusts is to play fair. The most of them are manifesting this disposition, and to continue the unreasoning hostility that now prevails in many quarters is to simply kill and cook the goose.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The Monongahela Times says that one of the members of the notorious alcohol gang, of this city, although he had just made a slight "touch," approached Frank Tische, the Second street barber, the other day, and asked him for a nickle with which to get "something to eat." Frank discovered that the fellow had a dime in his hand and said.

"Why, you have ten cents there in your hand now. What's that for?"

"Oh, that's to tip the waiter, you know," replied the gentlemen with the scarlet proboscis.

"I don't believe I'll let you go," said Burgess Warman of Uniontown to Tony Brumbert of Morrell, charged with toting a gun, in court Tuesday.

"What is the matter?" sharply responded the prisoner.

"Oh," said Warman, "you're just a bit too smart."

A fine of ten dollars was imposed, since the revolver found on his person was not loaded. The prisoner slapped down two new five dollar bills and looked the burgess in the eyes, said, in a sarcastic tone.

"Is that enough?"

The court then refused the money. Brumbert now reposes in the county jail. Constable J. R. Wood made a charge against the prisoner before Squire John Boyle for carrying concealed weapons. The sentence generally imposed for toting a gun in Fayette county is a fine of $75 and costs or nine months to the workhouse.

NO MORE HONEYMOON MISS

Reformers of Today Certainly Are Throwing All Kinds of Safeguards Around the Ceremony.

Under the microscope of modern criticism marriage seems to be honeycombed with false ideas and pernicious customs. So wrong is it that we almost doubt if any of our grandparents could have been happy and we sigh with relief when we consider that a last modern incident is about to change the old-fashioned methods and build in their place a scheme of common sense marriage in which no sorrow and regret can cloud the domestic hearth.

What a primitive, careless thing marriage has been hitherto. Just because a man and a woman have been attracted to one another they have rushed blindly into a lifelong partnership without any careful forethought or inquiry.

But we see the end of all that nonsense. Already the new marriage—the careful, well-considered mating—has arrived. The first medically examined wedding has been celebrated in this country. Surely this will give a lead to the world.

In future the first consideration will be the medical certificate, and after that the certificate of temperament. No man and woman will enter the state of matrimony without the consent of learned psychologists to testify to their suitability to one another.

And then the financial certicate, the considered judgment of economic specialists as to ways and means. However physically sound and temperamentally suitable the man and woman may be, the new marriage will insist that their income be sufficient to insure a life of comfort according to their normal standards. Our marriage reformers are going to allow us to take no risks.—New York Telegram.

GERMANY GROWS IN WEALTH

Remarkable Showing Made in a Report Recently Ordered From Leading Financier.

Karl Helfferich, director of the Deutsche bank, has completed his report to the kaiser of the wealth of the German nation. It will be published a few weeks hence and will be sold for $30.

From the proof sheets, says the New York Sun it appears that Doctor Helfferich estimates the aggregate total wealth of Germany at from $75,000,000,000 to $78,000,000,000. The wealth of France is placed at $60,000,000,000 that of England from $57,000,000,000 to $65,000,000,000 and that of the United States at $124,000,000,000. The German per capita wealth is placed at from $1,100 to $1,200, that of France, $1,425. England from $1,250 to $1,385 and the United States $1,300.

The annual income of the German people is placed at between $9,000,000,000 and $11,000,000,000, of which about one-sixth is used for public purposes. The amount used for private purposes could not be ascertained definitely, but is estimated approximately at $8,000,000,000.

From the deposits in German commercial and savings banks it is deduced that the Germans save $1,000,000,000 a year. Adding the automatic increase in values to the estimates the annual increase in the aggregate wealth is $2,500,000,000.

The government has issued a map in colors which shows where aviators may and where they may not fly. They must not go within 12 to 15 miles of Metz or the surrounding fortresses. A similar prohibition, which varies in distances, applies to all fortified places.

White Men in Tropics.

The Caribbean tropics are a garden of delights for the rich man, and an El Dorado. In sugar, in cotton, in cattle pastures, that world holds treasure today greater than the treasure shipped by the Spaniard through Panama the golden. The Caribbean tropics are good indeed, to the man strong enough to be master. They are good, too, to their own poor, for they curse their natives with no cold and rarely with famine; but for the poor white man from the north they are h—ll. It is not due only to the risks of the crop. It is due to the social conditions that forbid the white man in the tropics from laboring with the hands. No white man can do it in the islands or in Central America and keep his caste. Only in Panama, where an entirely artificial and unique condition has been made by the creators of the wonder of the isthmus can it be done.—Julius Muller, in the Century Magazine.

Worth Knowing.

A wealthy Norseman named Thorfinn Karlsefrie, with three ships and 60 men, founded a colony somewhere on the American coast in 1007, and here his son Snorro was born, the first white child born in America. Because of the trouble made by the Indians the colony was given up after three years, and little Snorro with the others went back to Europe. Spanish children were born in Florida, but the first English child was Virginia Dare, born in 1587, on Roanoke island, now a part of North Carolina. Two children were born on the Mayflower and named Oceanus and Peregrine.

The Compromise.

"How did Jack and Mabel agree over their dispute about the marriage services?"

"Mabel told Jack if he would make good on the all-his-worldly-goods-endowment proposition she would make the promise to obey."—Baltimore American.

Advertising

THERE once was an assumption that men who advertised were fraudulent in their intents, hence arose the idea that advertising was unethical and this fallacy still obtains in the traditions of a few certain societies and professions.

COMMONSENSE people all now recognize the value of letting the public know who you are, and what you have to offer in the world in the way of commodity or service.

WHEN we speak of advertising we speak of the most powerful force that acts today in the world of business.

THE American people form by all odds the best educated and most open-minded public in the world. All they want is the truth, and when get that, they act clearly, logically and some times with surprising speed.

THE public wants to know the facts. It wants the facts about a kind of shoe or a brand of flour. It wants to know the kind of stuff tnat goes into a suit of clothes or a package of crackers.

The One Thing Above All Others
The Public Demands is Publicity

IT has learned to be very skeptical about any event that occurs in the dark.

DO not keep your light under a bushel and create the opinion that you are no longer in business. Let the people know what you have to offer to them.

TURN TO LITTLE PIG

PHYSICIANS WILL IMPRESS HIM FOR GRAFTING PURPOSES.

Idea Put Forward That It Is Not Necsary for Human Beings to Sacrifice Cuticle in Interests of Their Fellow Men.

The latest marvel to science is the little pig. When occasion demands—and it will do so with increasing frequency—he is not even to have the privilege of keeping his hide until he grows up to go to the packing house. From time to time, if he be healthy, he is likely to be seized, etherized, scrubbed, disinfected, sterilized, shaved and peeled in order to save a human life or to prevent necessity of the sacrifice of cuticle by one person to save the life of another. For the little pig, according to Dr. C. S. Venable of San Antonio, Tex., one of the foremost of the younger surgeons of the United States, has just been discovered to be the best existing source of supply of skin for grafting purposes.

"I believe," Dr. Venable told the Medical Association of the Southwest, "that it will not be necessary in the future for men and women to give up their skin for the sake of others. The skin of swine, if taken when the animal is from two to six months old, can be grafted upon a human being more successfully than the skin of another human being.

"In course of my experiments I have found that the grafting of pig skin is successful in from 75 to 100 per cent. of the attempts. The skin of frogs, guinea pigs, dogs, cats and human beings averages only from 32 to 50 per cent. of 'takes.' The little pig, therefore, is the most promising source of supply of which we know now.

"It is the recognized rule of skin grafting that skin from a lower organism will grow upon the body of a higher organism, while the attempt will not be successful if the conditions are reversed. The pig is, of course, a low organism compared to man, and fortunately, in spite of this difference, the texture of its skin is very much like that of the human being. It is also about the same thickness. Further, it has a high degree of cell hardihood and cell prolification, two very important factors.

"A further advantage in the use of pig skin is that the supply is plentiful and easily obtained. This means that extensive operations in skin grafting may be carried on with much greater rapidity than is now possible. Of course transferring skin from one part of the patient's body to another is preferable to all other forms of skin grafting, but often this cannot be done, owing to the large area of flesh which has been denuded of its covering."

Boy's Honesty Rewarded.

Little Willie Hinson, a sixteen-year-old colored boy employed by John D. Sticht, 1147 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, is a very honest youngster, for he found a gold watch and fob, lost by Miss Alice Barnes Shaffer, and without consulting anybody raced as fast as his legs would carry him to the Classon avenue station house and there deposited his find with the lieutenant on the desk, saying: "Will you see that this gets to the lady what lost it?"

Were it not for the fact that Mrs. Jessie F. Barnes Schaffer, mother of the young woman who dropped her watch and fob, had advertised her loss the jewelry might still be in the property department at police headquarters unclaimed. But Willie saw the "lost ad" and went to 243 Carlton avenue, the home of Mrs. Schaffer, with the news: "Lady, I found your watch at Lafayette and Classon avenues, and I gave it in at the station house." A phone call to police headquarters confirmed what Willie had said.

Mrs. Schaffer gave the boy a substantial reward. She said:

"It is not the trouble for which I want to reward you, Willie, it is your honesty."

Find Health in Walking.

During the glorious days of early winter women who are looking for health should take up the simple exercise of walking. If possible a walking tour of two or three days, or even a week, should be arranged for the autumnal season, as the greatest amount of benefit will be derived from such an excursion.

Many women make the mistake of thinking that only the very robust should indulge in such an experiment. As a matter of fact, no greater error could possibly be made, as there is nothing which helps more to build up the body, soothe fretted nerves and rest a tired brain than just a simple walking tour. If delicate women took a week's walking tour there would be a remarkable decrease in the number of nervous complaints from which so many suffer. Insomnia, with all its attendant evils; neurasthenia, loss of appetite, depression of spirits, gradually disappear in the course of a walking tour. It has a perfectly marvelous power in restoring strength and giving tone to the system.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sanative Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HODGDON, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

MUCH VALUE IN DISCONTENT

Writer Finds Fault With the Celebrated Advice That Was Given by Benjamin Franklin.

"Don't keep your expenses down to your income. Bring your income up to your expenses. If you manage to live on what you make, you will never be spurred to better performances." This is the advice given by a San Franciscan who has made good. And why not? It seems heresy, but it is not, when you come to think it over. Take the clerk on $1,200 or $1,800 a year. If he is one of those carefully restrained men, keeping not only his expenses but his wants well within his meager income, he will remain a clerk all his life; die with that same income in his old age. The man who has wants beyond his income to gratify, if he has any merit in him, will hustle to bring in the dollars that he needs. Maybe he does not actually wish to live on a better scale than he is living, but wishes to save for investment or for a rainy day. He must lift his revenue or live a hand-to-mouth existence, or run into debt beyond his ability to pay. He becomes ambitious and more industrious, more ingenious, an abler man all round They say that contentment is better than riches, but contentment is a brake on progress. It is the discontented men who bestir themselves to get what they hanker for, and usually get it.—A. H. D., in the San Francisco News-Letter.

ANIMAL THAT NEVER DRINKS

Not a Drop Ever Passes the Brazilian Porcupine's Lips—Lives on Bark and Leaves.

An animal that never drinks has arrived in London Undoubtedly it is the first and only one, and all London is rushing to see it. Naturally such a curiosity is confined in the zoo

Wot a hun'appy beast it is! No wonder its bristles stuck out like that,' remarks a man who has just drawn the back of his hand across his mouth.

"'E do look drier than me Sunday at," assented his companion.

Temperance advocates use the newcomer to point a moral and adorn a tale. "Behold the lesson that he teacheth! Never a drop passes his lips Would that there were men in London that could say as much!"

It remains to be seen whether this Brazilian tree porcupine will take to drink now that he has been separated from his South American habitat and brought to the gloomy and chill purlieus of London. If he does demand drink, what will he choose? Maybe some of the curious visitors will surreptitiously ply him with a little ale or gin or some other London beverage to see its effect upon an animal that has never had a drop of anything to drink.

In his native Brazil this animal feeds upon the bark and leaves of trees, and the natives are very fond of its flesh It has a prehensile tail, which serves as a fifth hand.

Fire Worshipers.

The Parsees of Bombay are called the "fire worshipers' of the east because they hold in great reverence the fire they brought with them from Persia and have never allowed it to become extinguished in their temples; and because they worship the sun as the author of life.

The Parsees have always held aloof from other people and are famed for their commercial ability. As a consequence of this ability they are the wealthiest, most cultured and influential class in Bombay. So numerous are they that Bombay has been called the 'city of Parsees."

The religion of the Parsees is one of the ancient religions of the world, and was the religion of Persia when that country was second in power of the four great empires of the world—Babylonia, Persia, Greece, Rome.

In a great many particulars the religion of the Parsees comes nearer to Christianity than any other Oriental faith.

Advice to Old Maids.

"It would be most blessed for old maids to go to a home for orphans and adopt bright children who are patterns of good," said the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church of Philadelphia. He was delivering an address at New Castle, Del., at the cornerstone laying of the Sunday school hall of Immanuel Episcopal church Dr. Tomkins was the principal orator at the exercises, which were attended by 3,000 persons. He said:

"It would likewise be blessed for all childless people of this place to adopt children and thereby brighten and gladden their homes. Take heed at once and you will do great good." —Wilmington (Del.) Dispatch to the New York Sun.
